Rosalia Torres-Weiner is an artist, activist and community leader. Her work is featured in the permanent collection of the Smithsonian Anacostia Museum and has been exhibited in venues including:

- The McColl Center for Arts and Innovation
- Levine Museum of the New South
- UNCC's Projective Eye Gallery
- The City of Raleigh Museum, etc.

Her public murals celebrate the rich history and changing demographics of the South.

Her work will be featured in a solo exhibition at Georgia College's Leland Gallery in October 2018. She has been a featured speaker for the North Carolina ASC, Johnson & Wales University, George Washington University, the National Association of Latino Arts and Culture, and the Southern Foodways Alliance.

Through her Red Calaca Mobile Art Studio, a 24-foot "Art Truck" she has taken the arts directly to people in underserved areas in Charlotte.
